Whenever it is holiday time many school goers are excited. This is caused by the thought that they are going to enjoy free time. But this is wrong. Children must know that during this time, some things are not available. The termly pocket money and weekly eats are not given.

For that reason, most intelligent children decide to look for some income. In the village of Kumisi, there were two twin brothers. During the second term holidays of 2023, they went to Munavu bakery. They talked to the chief baker about some temporary employment. Mr. Busu was happy to learn that these boys were holiday makers. He asked them to write application letters. Their teacher of English was their referee.

On the real day of beginning to work, the boys were early. They pleased the chief baker. Katoto, one of the twins, was told to work in the kneading room. It was not easy making the dough to the level that was needed. He took longer time to finish his work than the rest of the workers.

Waisswa, another twin, was put at the oven. It was the hottest place he had ever come closer to. He sweated all over the body. He drank cold water every minute. His fellow workers were sorry for him. But he completed the work in time.

The work went on like that for the three weeks of the holidays. At the end, the chief baker called the two boys. He thanked them for being very obedient.
