SECTION B (50 MARKS)

51. Read the story below and answer in full sentences the questions that follow.

Mr. Manta has been a carpenter for the last thirty years. At the age of seventy, he can still strongly hammer nails to fix hard wood and make useful furniture.

I got to learn about him one day when he came to our home to mend the broken seats. He could fix back the pieces of wood and make a chair to its original shape. Being the only experienced carpenter in the area, most of the houses in the village have doors made by him.

Mr. Manta is not jealous. He can easily allow you to interview him and copy the way he fixes timber to make furniture. He has taught his sons and daughters all the carpentry skills. Because of teaching other people, so many people in the areas have adopted the skills and are now good carpenters.

This has made many people to earn income. The youths no longer seek jobs instead they are job creators. After my primary seven at Kawungeera Primary school, I intend to join his carpentry workshop to learn the skills. I admire his job and I would like to be a carpenter in future. This is because carpentry requires less capital and it does not need you to move from place to another looking for a job. It is a practical skill that can easily earn you a living.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

This image shows a full page of blank handwriting practice paper. It features multiple sets of horizontal lines across the entire page. Each set consists of three lines: two solid black lines forming the top and bottom boundaries, and a dashed purple line positioned exactly halfway between them. These sets are repeated vertically down the page, providing a guide for letter height and placement. The background is plain white, and there are no margins or additional markings.
