SECTION B (50 MARKS)

51. Read the passage below and in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

In a small village of Katooke in Wakiso District, there is a small forest called Kikube. The forest is known for fierce animals. For that reason, the authorities of the area banned all residents from encroaching the forest for firewood, medicine fruits or poles for building in fear that the animals would attack and feast on them. The residents of the village were very submissive and obeyed the authorities.

One day, a group of poachers from the nearby village encountered the forest to hunt antelopes for meat. The hunter had a nest for trapping the animals and dogs for frightening them from their hiding places.

Besides, the hunter had sharp spears and pangas for defence incase of an attack from lions, tigers and hyenas. The residents warned them against tampering with the forest but they paid a deaf ear.

Having set their traps, they instructed the dogs to start chasing the animals. No sooner had the hunting begun than one of the hunters was attacked by a big lion.

The rest of the hunters ran away in fear of lives. The dogs could neither do anything. The hunters ran to the nearby police station to call for help. A group of armed policemen ran to the forest to rescue the hunter but they were late.

By the time they reached, the hunter had been eaten and only blood spots were found at the scene.

The officer in charge of the police station together with the chairman of the village called for a village meeting. They cautioned the residents never to go to that forest for any reason. They termed the forest as "The forbidden Forest" from that day, the forest was left as a habitat for wild animals.
