Questions 51 to 55 carry ten marks each.

1. Read the passage below and then answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

Preparations for our school-leavers' party were on. First, we had a meeting. In that meeting, we agreed to hold our party in Tropical Hotel on the last Friday of October. The other agreement was that we would invite all our teachers to the party. We also agreed that each one of us would pay ten thousand shillings to attend.

A few days to the party however, only one pupil called Katana had not paid. Her uncle, with whom she lived, had gone to the village to attend to his sick father. We all felt sorry for her. Katana was a very disciplined and intelligent girl. When she was our head girl, everyone at school liked her. Fortunately, our class monitor came up with an idea. He requested us to raise some money for Katana to attend the party. He also talked to Mrs. Kole, our class teacher, about the issue. Thankfully, she gave us five thousand shillings. We then raised the balance.

On the day of the party, we reached the hotel at midday. Smartly dressed waitresses welcomed us.

"Who's the master of ceremonies of the day?" one of them asked us.

Unfortunately, we had forgotten to identify a master of ceremonies (MC) in our meeting. The class monitor therefore requested Katana to be the MC of the day. We all jumped up and down with excitement. Soon, the waitresses led us to a hall decorated with flowers and balloons. There was soft music playing. Speaking into the microphone, Katana asked us to take our seats. She then read the day's programme and advised us to behave ourselves.

At two o'clock, our lunch was ready. After our teachers had been served, the MC asked us to line up. As usual, some of us had no manners. We did not want to make a line and we poured soup on ourselves. However, at the end of it all, everybody was happy. We thanked the hotel management for their service. In a special way, the class teacher thanked Katana for managing the party well. She also wished us success in our final examinations.

Why misbehave my brother, sister?
Why fight in class, outside, along the way home?
Why abuse your friends, teachers?
Why damage, steal property?
Why skip classes, lessons?

Any kind of misbehaviour
Leads you nowhere.
Nobody will make friends with a thief,
No one will become a friend of a liar or a bully
Nor will anyone be happy with a failure.

Behave well brother, sister
And you will receive blessings
From parents, neighbours, friends, teachers
And above all, my dear,
Blessings from the Creator.

Brother, sister,
Those you share a class with,
Are they good or bad?
Are they guiding or misleading you?
If bad and misleading, stay away from them.
