Last week, there was a heavy storm in Rungwe Village. On that Thursday, the sun was very bright in the morning. As it approached noon, the wind started blowing. Soon, the clouds grew darker. The people who had washed their clothes had to remove them from the wires. Others who had taken their animals to graze also returned them to their sheds.

The rain began in small drops and later started raining heavily. The wind was so strong that most houses lost the roofs. Most of the big trees in the area were uprooted. Others lost their branches and leaves. The stones had destroyed most of the crops in the gardens. It took two hours before it stopped raining.

The people were left with nothing to eat. Some did not have any shelter. On Friday, the District Environment Officer visited the area. The people received food and other items from her.

In her speech, the officer was not happy with the people of that area. They had cut down all the forests, burnt the bushes and used bad methods of growing crops. She said that that was the reason why the storm affected their village. She asked the village chairperson to talk to the people about how to protect their environment.

A meeting was held the next day. All the people promised the chairman that they would be very obedient and protect the environment.
