51. Read the passage below carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

Mr. Rufu comes from Duudu village. He owns a carpentry workshop in Singa Town, a distance of seventy kilometers from his home village. His wife and four children don't live with him. They are at home in Duudu village. Mrs. Rufu is a poultry farmer. Three of the children go to school. But they have time to help their mother with the chores. All this make them a happy family.

One Sunday evening, Mrs. Rufu was listening to radio announcements on voice of Duudu. She fell asleep. When she woke up she heard the last part of a death announcement. Because of the sleep, she thought she had heard that Mr. Rufu had passed on and burial would be at his home in Duudu village. At once, she made a loud cry. Her children left the kitchen and rushed to the sitting room.

They asked their mother what had gone wrong. She told them that she was now a window. She broke the news to them. They also wailed. The neighbours also came to see what had gone wrong.

Throughout the night people came to mourn the death of Mr. Rufu. The following day, the elders arranged for the burial. A coffin was bought. Some relatives came along with shrouds. The elders suggested that the eldest son, Kadongo, would be the heir. Mr. Rufu did not have a will.

Although every body was sorrowful nobody knew where the body was or how it would be delivered for burial. Mrs. Rufu could not answer any of these questions.

The grave had just been completed when someone arrived on a motorcycle. It was Mr. Rufu! People almost ran away. They thought they had seen a ghost! Mr. Rufu could not understand anything! He found a lot of people and all in tears. Their elders told him the whole story. He couldn't believe it. But it was happiness at the end.

55. Read the poem below carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

We call them resources
Those that help us meet our needs
They are the most friendly
For they are naturally got.

We have those we call basic
Since without them life is meaningless
Among them are water, time and money
Without forgetting fuel and food.

We need to learn to save them
Don't leave the bulb burning all day
Repair all resources that are torn
Then recycle those that can be of use again.

We should be ready to keep them easy to use.
Then we shall improve our standards
Say no to wastage of resources
And they will be here for future use.
