SECTION B

(Questions 51 to 55 carry 10 marks each.)

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

Election of prefects is a yearly event in schools. Prefects play a big role. They help teachers to smoothly run the school.

In my school, Hillside Primary School, this election is held in second term, and recently, it was election week.

The School Election Commission announced posts to be vied for. The notice was pinned on the school noticeboard. Interested pupils were encouraged to apply to the electoral body. Several application letters were carefully scrutinized by the electoral body and names of applicants found fit for the posts were listed and displayed on the noticeboard. This showed that they had been nominated or selected to contest for the respective posts.

Aspiring candidates designed posters to facilitate their campaigns. The campaigns got more interesting as various candidates promised to do various things once elected. Lito Bokie, one of the candidates vying for the post of Dining Prefect, promised to ask the school administration to include ice cream on the daily school menu. This particular promise made him very famous among the pupils. All throughout the campaigns, there was no case of bribery reported. The School Election Commission had strongly cautioned against bribery of any kind, and that any candidate who engaged in the vice would be discontinued from the election. They'd also warned against use of abusive language during the campaigns.

On polling day, pupils queued to cast their votes. They exercised their democratic right by voting candidates of their choice. Later in the day, vote counting took place and successful candidates were announced. As the victors celebrated their electoral victories, strong losers accepted defeat and congratulated their fellows on winning in the election. The victors were later sworn in at a colorful ceremony presided over by the area Member of Parliament. What a busy electoral season it was!

Re: FOR SLAPPING BAVVE JOHNSON

Referring to the above subject, I hereby write to

I know that such behaviour is unacceptable. Johnson picked my dictionary and it down so I thought slapping him would teach him to respect people and property. I am very and I to behave better next time.

I shall be if my apology is positively considered.
